

UBS Signs with Eventus for Risk and Surveillance Platform

Austin, TX, March 16, 2016 – Eventus Systems, Inc. (“Eventus”), a provider of innovative software solutions focused on processing and analyzing large data across an organization, announced that UBS Securities LLC (“UBS”) is now a client of its Validus risk and surveillance platform. Validus provides a centralized view of trading, operations, surveillance, compliance and risk management information for a wide range of financial trading firms.

Eventus has received growing support and recognition from the trading community with recent client wins from broker-dealers, automated and quantitative traders and an alternative trading system (ATS). Its Validus platform is the only run-time enterprise risk and compliance platform on the market capable of spanning the front-, middle-, and back-office.

"In examining the landscape for real-time risk management technology solutions to deploy in our Quant HQ business, Eventus and the Validus platform offered impressive state of the art capabilities that strengthen our current platform," said Mark Holder, Global Co-Head of Electronic Trading at UBS.

"We're delighted to have UBS as a client, not only because of its reputation for technological and risk management expertise, but because of its innovative trading capabilities," said Travis Schwab, CEO of Eventus.

Eventus was formed in 2014, with the goal of providing innovative software solutions that focus on processing and analyzing data throughout an organization to more efficiently facilitate intelligent decision making.

ABOUT EVENTUS

Eventus Systems, Inc. is high-tech innovation and data management firm that helps clients solve pressing industry challenges through the use of intelligent data. Led by a veteran management team, Eventus brings exceptional talent and pedigree in software development, with a particular expertise in capital markets and high-performance data management. Eventus' Validus is the only run-time enterprise risk and compliance platform on the market capable of spanning the front-, middle-, and back-office, allowing for sophisticated risk management and surveillance. Through multi-stream data reconciliation and pipelining, Validus offers a high-performance, scalable platform that was built and battle-tested in the toughest market conditions. www.eventusystems.com