

Titan Regulation and Eventus Systems Announce Strategic Partnership

Real-time analytics and risk mitigation system enhances the precision of audit services and reduces compliance costs and risks

Austin, TX, and San Francisco, CA – Titan Regulation (“Titan”), a provider of compliance solutions to the financial services industry, and Eventus Systems, Inc. (“Eventus”), a leading national provider of real-time analytics and risk mitigation systems to the financial services industry, have entered a strategic partnership to provide customers with an end to end solution for their compliance and risk management needs.

Validus, which was launched over a year ago, offers both Enterprise and Cloud versions and is installed at Tier 1 banks, future commission merchants (FCMs), brokers, proprietary trading firms as well as alternative trading systems (ATS) spanning equities, futures and equity options. The Validus system provides a real time, centralized dashboard that spans trading, operations, surveillance, compliance and risk management for both buy- and sell-side firms enabling them to make key regulatory and risk decisions faster and with better intelligence. Validus promotes compliance and risk transparency across the organization.

Eventus’ Validus is the only run-time enterprise risk and compliance platform on the market capable of spanning the front-, middle-, and back-office, enabling sophisticated risk management and surveillance.

“After an extensive search, we found Validus to be the best risk and surveillance technology we have seen and it will enable us to better support our existing customer base as well as expand into new verticals,” said Julie Dixon, founder and CEO of Titan. “Partnering with Eventus and implementing Validus dramatically increases Titan’s ability to perform very precise risk analysis and to further differentiate Titan’s service offering.”

Financial firms continue to be under constant scrutiny by regulators as well as trying to cope with the ever-shifting regulatory landscape. The goal of this partnership is to provide customers with a unified solution to both their technology and consulting needs as well as expand the precision of the audit services reducing overall compliance costs and reducing risk across the organization.

"Titan has a strong five year track record of delivering high quality consulting services to regulated financial institutions. In a competitive field of players in the consulting space, we believe that Titan’s client satisfaction rates, strong growth curve and innovative consulting offerings made them a perfect fit,” said Travis Schwab, CEO of Eventus. “We’re very excited to work alongside Titan as we continue to see strong adoption of the Validus platform across the financial services marketplace."
