

ETC Selects Eventus Systems for Its State of the Art Trading Risk Management Platform

Validus Cloud, an innovative regtech software solution, to provide a centralized view into trading, operations, surveillance, and compliance

Austin, TX, September 14, 2017 – Eventus Systems, Inc. (“Eventus”), a provider of innovative regtech software solutions announced that Electronic Transaction Clearing, Inc. (“ETC”) is now a client of its Validus risk and surveillance platform. Validus provides a centralized view of trading, operations, surveillance, compliance and risk management information for a wide range of financial firms including FCMs, brokers, Exchanges/ATS, banks and proprietary trading firms.

“From our perspective, Validus Cloud is a very effective surveillance platform and is critical to our efforts in maintaining a vigorous and fulsome compliance program,” said Eli Wishnivetski, Chief Compliance Officer at ETC. “Partnering with Eventus and implementing Validus, dramatically increases ETC’s ability to surveil market activity across our diverse client base efficiently.”

Validus’ proprietary design provides a centralized view into trading, operations, surveillance, compliance and risk management information across asset classes for both buy- and sell-side firms, and is the only run-time enterprise risk and compliance platform on the market capable of spanning the front-, middle-, and back-office. Validus has both Enterprise and Cloud solutions in order to customize the solution per client.

"We're delighted to have ETC as a new client, because of their strong client first culture, commitment to compliance and efficient business operations," said Travis Schwab, CEO of Eventus.
